Loving Our Neighbours

-pastor timothy chow-

my neighbor.

The Good Samaritan

Many times in the Bible we are called to love our neighbour. Our neighbour is not just the person who lives next door to us – and may not even be from the same country.

The parable of the Good Samaritan explains the command to 'love your neighbour'. Read Luke 10:25-37.

Jesus teaches us that we should love each other, even across cultural and social boundaries. When the lawyer asked Jesus, 'Who is my neighbour?' he was perhaps expecting Jesus to answer 'Your fellow Jew.'. But Jesus answered otherwise. We are not told anything about the man who is attacked in the parable, although those listening were Jewish and would have assumed that he was a Jew.

However, a priest and a Levite – both members of the religious elite in Israel at the time – passed by the injured man. In the time of Jesus, Samaritans were despised by the Jews. Yet in the parable, it is a travelling Samaritan who sees the injured man and has compassion on him.

- Who is your neighbour?
- Think of times when you have found it difficult to love your neighbour. Why did you find it difficult?
- How will your attitude towards others change in the light of this passage?

Disabilities: knowing our true value

Sadly, society often overlooks the worth that God has given people with disabilities. In our plans and work, we often ignore the huge contribution that such people can make.

Read Ephesians 2:10 and 1 Corinthians 12:7 .

We have all been made in the image of God – those with disabilities and those without disabilities. We have all been created for a purpose, with something valuable to offer. All of us. God does not discriminate. People may discriminate, but God does not. People with disabilities have much to offer their communities but, like everyone, they need an opening.

- In our church, in our work, in our everyday life, how can we encourage those with disabilities to use the gifts God has given them?
- Do we sometimes discriminate without really meaning to?
- What things in our society and in our culture make it difficult for people with disabilities to reach their full potential? What could we do to improve the situation?

Read Romans 5:1-11, 8:12-17.

Jesus Christ died upon the cross so that we may be reconciled to God and know his perfect peace, whatever our physical condition. In Jesus Christ, all people can know their true value as sons and daughters of our Living God.

LOVE LETTER

A Joyful 'toon by Mike Waters

You show that you are a letter from Christ, the result of our ministry, written not with ink but with the Spirit of the living God, not on tablets of stone but on tablets of human hearts.
